This newsletter is very important because it is a way of communicating important information and the happenings at the Early Learning Center. It will be on lavender paper, so you can easily recognize it. You will receive a copy via email if an email was provided in Skyward. It will also be on the SCOH's website, www.hobart.k12.in.us. When Should My Child Stay Home?

It is very important that your child be at school everyday he/she is well. There are many in-class learning opportunities which cannot be reproduced at home. This includes learning which occurs during class discussions, hands on experiences, and through student communication. Please emphasize good and prompt attendance with your child. However, we don't want students at school if they are truly sick. You can help us by:

- Keeping your child who is sick at home. When you call him/her off, please report the type of illness and/or symptom.
- Teach your child to wash hands a lot with soap and water for 20 seconds.
- Teach your child to cover coughs and sneezes with tissues or by coughing into the inside of the elbow.
- People who are sick should stay home from work or school and avoid people until they are better.
- When your child is free of a fever for 24 hours, he/she can return to school.
- Remember when your child returns to school, to send him/her with a note or doctor's note with child's full name, date absent, and reason.

It is important that your immunizations are up to date. Please be sure to send a copy of your child's immunization records as soon as possible. You can also ask your doctor's office to fax us a copy at 942-0249. If your child has any medical conditions or needs to have medication at school, it is imperative we know this information and you contact the school nurse. Thanks for your help in keeping your child safe. Remember all medications must be brought to the school nurse by an adults.

Mindfulness Moment:

Happy Brains are Learning Brains!

We all learn best when our brains are calm and in a ready state! So, here at the ELC, we are all learning how to calm our brains so that we are ready to learn. Deep breathing can help put our brains in a ready state. Try it out at home as well! Simply ask your child to sit down with you and take three deep breaths in through the nose and out through the mouth and watch the peace and calm take shape.

Please join us Friday, September 15th at 5:30 at ELC as we recognize Boy Scout troop 42 for their hard work this summer with improvements for our story walk trail, Pages in the Prairie! We will have a brief ribbon cutting ceremony introducing the improvements to our ELC families and friends. The trail will have a story posted for your enjoyment as well.
